OBJECTIVE

As a third-year student at the Faculty of Tourism and Hotels, El-Mansoura University, I am eager to apply my academic knowledge and hands-on experience in the culinary and hospitality industry to an internship at one of Egypt's premier restaurants. With a passion for cooking and a background in organizing significant university events such as the first session of the career forum and the Supreme Council of Universities conference, I have honed my organizational and teamwork skills. Additionally, my training experience at Cairo Airport has provided me with valuable insights into high-pressure environments. I am enthusiastic about the opportunity to contribute to and learn from a distinguished restaurant, further enhancing my expertise and passion for the culinary arts
